Our Valentine's day party was full of love. Guests played Valentine's bingo, enjoyed a pizza party, and exchanged homemade valentines with one another.

Presidents' day was celebrated by discussing different books about past presidents from the Noble Care library, playing a presidential trivia game, and creating drawings of favorite presidents.

We honored Dr. Seuss' birthday this month by reading and enjoying many of his works. To the right is a picture of Nino wearing a special birthday hat created not only in recognition of The Cat in the Hat but also in celebration of his own birthday which is also in March.

Joe Rossetti, former engineer for Pratt & Whitney and retired professor at Eastern University, gave a lecture on the mechanics of jet propulsion specifically on how forced air propels an object forward.
